

Message from the Universe

Posted on July 24,2017 by nmcreatrix

Some days these are right on and some days they are just... But this one was spot on... I always knew I could count on you to uncover the truth, Shari, when others just played "follow the leader." I wasn't surprised at all to find you standing by your principles when the going got tough. And there was never any doubt in my mind that when faced with a fork in the road, you'd take the path less traveled. I just had no idea you'd have such expensive taste. You so rock, The Universe

Posted in:Uncategorized || With 0 comments