

Weathering Experiment, Conclusion

Posted on August 07,2016 by nmcreatrix

This experiment started in 2012. I discovered Seth Apter and he had proposed hanging paper outside to watch it weather. This idea intrigued me, so I took it to heart. Rainbow Artists had a show called "Art by the Yard" and all entries had to be 18x36". I submitted my piece and after the show, decided to hang it on my balcony. I started out with the best of intentions and posted for two months in a row. Then I tapered off... My first two posts can be seen here and here.    I guess that this is the last picture that i took in December of 2012, and as you can see it has weathered a lot.
